Company Overview

Over our 60-year history, Vistage has solidified our reputation as the world's most trusted executive coaching organization. Our core formula of peer groups of executives from non-competing industries, backed by one-to-one coaching, has driven our members to outperform their competition through boom markets and recession.

But we believe success has no finish line.

The leadership challenges our members face today are complex and numerous: Their markets are global, their workforces are more diverse and their competition is steep. While the Vistage formula proves year after year to be the most effective way for good leaders to make great decisions and achieve great results, we continuously refine and grow our platform to equip our members to surmount every new challenge and reach ever-higher levels of success.
